MAGAZINE

Fish Media Services is a program offered by the staff of fish magazine, a monthly Christian entertainment magazine serving the greater Chattanooga area. To help supplement the expenses of this grassroots ministry, we have been designing posters, fliers, ads, brochures, logos, newsletters and more for our clients since fish began in 2000. We offer competitive rates for the work we do. We can help you. Give us a call.

Quality work

From concept creation and idea generation to taylor-made designs and eye-catching final products, the work we do is high quality, not only in the look of the design, but in the practical function as well. With over 15 years of experience in many areas, from newspaper and magazine layout to ad creation and logo design, we're sure we can meet your needs.

Hands-on approach

We are a small business. Many of our clients are small businesses. We know how it is. Our approach to any design project starts with making your priorities our priorities. What are you about? What do you want people to know about you? We want to know. Whatever it is you need — posters, pamphlets, simple fliers, advertisements, logo and identity creation, tee shirt design, and more — we will work with you to communicate your message to your audience.

Quick turn-around

Deadlines. Schedules. Appointments. We know all about them. We understand the pressures you are under. That is why we deliver projects efficiently, effectively, and as quickly as possible. We usually give clients a time estimate at the first meeting, and we commit to staying within that time-frame. Your time is your most valuable asset. That is why we deliver high quality work quickly, and on schedule.

Competitive pricing

Let's get right down to it. Money matters. A lot. You want your voice to be heard, but you can't afford to sink your budget making that happen. We understand. Our prices are fair and affordable. We generally charge $65 an hour for graphic design work. Fees can change, of course, depending on case-specific details and needs.

The short and sweet version? We do it better, quicker, and for less.
